Old Baxterite Dead

Mrs. Julia E. Burgess, 83 years old, died Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ira C. Perkins, No. 1013 Short street, Galena. Death was due to senility.

Mrs. Burgess was born at Tallmadge, Ohio, Nov. 28, 1833, and was married to Captain Henry A. Burgess Nov. 12, 1854. They moved to Detroit, Mich., and later joined a party formed as opposed to slavery and came to Kansas, locating near Lawrence in 1856. They went through many thrilling incidents connected with those stirring times.

From Lawrence to St. Louis and in 1879 to Baxter Springs, where Captain Burgess died in 1885. Since then Mrs. Burgess had made her home with her daughter.

She joined the Congregational church at an early age and later the Presbyterian church, of which she was a member until her death.

Mrs. Burgess was a sister of the late Colonel W. B. Stone, a prominent Galena citizen, and was the last of that generation.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the residence. The Rev. Frederick Maier of the Presbyterian church conducted the service. Burial in the Baxter Springs cemetery.

Owen Halsett Dies.

Owen Halsett, a miner, who was struck by a 12-ton slab of rock in the Ruby W mine, southwest of Baxter Springs, at 5 o'clock Friday evening, died in St. John's hospital at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Halsett was a shoveler and part of the roof in the mine dropped, a slab weighing 24,000 pounds falling on him. He was unconscious when he was dug out and was rushed to St. John's hospital in the Hurlbut Undertaking Company's ambulance. His skull was crushed and his body badly cut and bruised.

Nothing is known of the relatives of the man. He came from Louisiana a few weeks ago. He was 28 years old. The body was removed to the Hurlbut Undertaking Company's morgue pending the arrival of word from relatives.

Will Rucker Dead.

Will Rucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Rucker, died in Phoenix, Arizona, last Wednesday night. He went west several weeks ago for the benefit of his health, and it was thought he was getting along nicely. His parents left here a week ago last Sunday to visit him, and when they arrived at Phoenix they found him apparently greatly improved. But a few hours after their arrival he took suddenly worse and passed away. The remains were brought to this city for interment, arriving here Sunday evening. Interment was made Monday afternoon, after a short service at the home, conducted by Rev. S. S. Hagerman of Galena.

Besides his parents, Will leaves one sister, Miss Belle Rucker.

The bereaved relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community. It is particularly hard on Mrs. Rucker, as she had planned to spend the winter with her son at Phoenix, and his sudden death after her arrival there completely upset her.

Mrs. T. H. Goodwin left Monday night for Des Moines, Iowa, to spend the winter.

You are a heavy loser if you are not patronizing our 5c, 10c, and 25c department. We have a line of goods in this department that you can not beat anywhere. It is made up of things you need every day, the practical things. And the savings you can make is truly wonderful. Before you pay a high price for an article come and see if you can't find it in this department. Baxter Supply Co., next to postoffice.

Farmers all along the road between Baxter and Chetopa are getting all riled up over the way the drivers of the "boonze" cars are using the roads. Until recently the drivers of these cars have been willing to give half of the road when they met the farmer, but now the farmer is lucky if he is given time to get out of the road entirely. Much indignation is expressed against the whisky-hauling road hogs, and it is probable drastic measures outside the law will be taken if they continue the practice.
